About us

Formed in 1967, The National Vintage Tractor & Engine Club comprises a number of local groups which provide a meeting point for enthusiasts with a common interest in rescuing, repairing, restoring and exhibiting or even just watching older agricultural tractors and stationary engines in action.

Groups organise and attend events throughout the year where members can get involved or just come along and meet like minded enthusiasts. They also hold talks, film shows and organise local visits.

On a national level the club represents members in matters of Government Legislation, Health and Safety requirements and European Directives and have successfully negotiated in the past to ensure we can enjoy our hobby with the minimum of interference. This includes working with other vintage clubs on matters of common interest. Our Safety Code is recognised as a standard by many rally organisers and insurance companies.

The club has also helped several thousand owners of restored tractors and other agricultural machines, like combines and harvesters, to register their vehicles with DVLA.

Our quarterly magazine Vaporising is delivered direct to members and is packed with information on future events, reports on past ones, technical and restoration features, book and DVD reviews and sales and wants classifieds which are free to members.
